This publication is the fourth in a series of annual compilations of basic statistics of Bhutan. We have changed the title to "Statistical Handbook of Bhutan" for the 1985 publication. It is sincerely hoped that the Handbook will serve as an appropriate medium for disseminating, in compact form, important basic facts relating to the country.

We would like to express our thanks and gratitude to those who have extended their co-operation in the compilation of this booklet. We hope to provide this publication on an annual basis with gradually increasing coverage, in order to make it more useful to planners, researchers, administrators, and the general public.
